

BIO of James R Powell, MD

Dr. James Powell is a Board-certified Internal Medicine physician and the Chief Executive Officer for Long Island Select Health Care (LISH). LISH is a federally qualified health center born from three OPWDD agencies. He has been actively involved in the treatment of individuals with Intellectual and developmental disabilities (I/DD) on a full-time basis since 2003. He is currently the Medical Director of Developmental Disabilities Institute and United Cerebral Palsy of Long Island. A former board member of the American Academy of Developmental Medicine and Dentistry he has lectured across the country regarding the unique needs of the patients he serves. He has become a leader in virtual care and has secured DOH and FCC grants to assist I/DD patients receive timely services and minimize risk.